FREE SOUND brings together ten diverse artists who participated in The Physics Room 2004 performance programme on a downloadable CD for your listening pleasure. The CD will be 45min 54sec long, and is accompanied by a downloadable jewel case cover. It acts as a document of the range of projects we supported in 2004, and has been produced in association with The Physics Room 2004 Annual publication. The Annual brings together new writing, images and documentation on the exhibitions, programmes and projects developed for The Physics Room in 2004. The Physics Room is committed to the presentation of a range of programmes including experimental sound and performance, internet, digital and video art practices, which contribute to the development of new ways of thinking and working within the context of the art gallery.
